The Grand Army Reaches Beginning of the End.

It Will Now Steadily Grow Less Says Commander Adams.

Pritsburg, Sept. 12.—The delegates to the national encampment of the G. A. R. today got down to business. While 200,-000 persons have left the city since the last old soldier passed in review yesterday, there are still 200,000 strangers in town, the majority of whom will stay until Saturday, while some will stay even longer. The national encampment opened in the new Grand opera house. The election for commander in chief will not be held until temorrow. Since the withdrawal of Charles D. Long, of Michigan, the opinion is tapidly growing that Col. I. N. Walker, of Indiana, will secure the coveted honor. The selection of the next encampment city has also been deferred until tomorrow. While the surface indications are that Louisville will have a walk-over, it is hinted that St. Paul has been doing good work in a quiet but very effective way.

The different auxiliaries of the G. A. R having recovered from the excitement of yesterday's parade, are also holding their conventions. The Woman's Relief Corps, the ladies of the G. A. R. and the Daughters of Veterans will discuss serious matters. The chiefest will be their official relation to the G. A. R. In addition they will elect national officers.

Great preparations are being made for the reception to the G. A. R. delegates to be given this evening in the new Westinghouse building at Pittsburg. Five thousand invitations have been

The staff of Captain Jack Adams, the retiring commander-in-chief, presented him last night with a badge studded with diamonds, combining the past com-mander's insignia, the Corps' badge and the Grand Army star.

Mrs. Adams was also honored by being elected an honorary member of the staff, the second woman to receive such a com-pliment, the wife of General Alger being the first. Mrs. Adams was also remem-bered with a beautiful diamond souvenir.

Commander-in-chief John B. Adams of the Grand Army of the Republic said in his address today:

"The membership of the order is as follows: One year ago there were in good standing 397,223. There have been gained during the year by musier in 16,752; by transfer, 6,854; by reinstatement, 14,086; by reinstatement from delinquent reports, 2,519. Total gain, 82,681; aggregate, 430,884.

"There have been lost: By death, 7,288; by honorable discharge, 1,756; by transfer, 7,132; by suspension, 4,808; by dishonorable discharge, 154; by delinquent reports, 16,671. Total loss, 67,801. Number remaining in goad standing June 39, 1894, 369,684." To which he added: "These figures show that the G. A. R. has reached the beginning of the end and each succeeding year will show a gradual decrease in our membership.

"During the year the Grand Army has not forgotten the great work of charity and has expended $208,780.10 for relief." Referring to the Bons of Veterans, he commends the action of the young men in that organization, and says that "it will carry on our work when we lay it down. I do not believe they should become members of our order in any way and am of the opinion they do not ask or expect it. I believe the G. A. R. should coase to exist and live only in history when the last comrade is mustered out, but our principles must live forever."

The speaker replied to the message of the president which stated "that thousands of neighborhoods had their well known pension frauds." The pension department and the order had hunted down all reported cases. Very few frauds were discovered and when found, were not cases where soldiers had defranded the government, but where some dis-honest agent had worked a poor ignorant widow, and put the money thus obtained | the emperor of Japan has an unlimited into his pockets.

He complained of the policy of the pension office, which he declared had in violation of intended liberality of the act of June 27, 1890, rejected every claim about which there was the slightest doubt, and many disabled veterans though their claims had been proved by reliable witness, had been deprived of the whole or part of what they are justly entitled to receive.

"By not of congress," he said, "the pension is now made a vested right. I have been doing my best to find out what that does for the pensioner. As he is examined, re-examined, reduced and dropped the same as before, I am unable | are made in Paris and are the envy of to say what advantage the act la."

The address was accompanied by detailed reports from all the national officers of the organization.

In 1875 he was commissioner and as deputy district attorney of San Joaquin county.

The game of politics fascinated him from early manhood, and when he was nominated for congress in 1882, principally because no other man in the district believed a Democrat could defeat Harold T. Page, the sitting member, who was known as the "invincible," Budd took off his coat and went to work to win. He carried with him a pot of paint and a brush, and it was not long before about every one of nature's billboards in the congressional district bore

> The following is the crop report of the Kansas Department of Agriculture, for the month ending August 31, 1894, by F. D. Coburn, the secretary:

Owing to the disappointing season with reference to nearly all crops, and the wide-spread desire for a conservative statement of actual conditions and results, especial pains have been taken to admitted to practice. In 1875 he was appointed a member of the governor's they were, and the following is a careful staff and later served as United States | digest and condensation of the varied returns made by those on the ground. The acreage planted, as given for each crop, is that shown by returns of assessors:

Winter Wheat. The area sown to winter wheat was 4,675,704 acres; of this 2,683,437 or 57.32 per cent was harvested, making 28,165,656 bushels, or a yield of 6,02 bushels per acre on the total sown, or 10.50 per section of the total sown. 10.50 on the acreage actually harvested This is 3,531,242 bushels or 14.35 per cent greater than the crop of 1893, and within a triffing fraction of the estimate made by this department in its June report, which indicated 28,320,000 bushels on 2,-606,671 acres likely to be harvested, or 10.62 bushels per acre. Nearly all the counties of largest production rate the quality as "medium," "good" and "very good," the latter predominating. Many counties have of course practically none, even for seed, while others have a goodly

Of rye the acreage was 131,184, and the yield 978,658 bushels, or an average of 7.8 bushels, of quality fairly good.

The severely dry weather prevailing over the larger portion of the state durlng July and August, proved the previous promising outlook very deceptive, not slone as to corn but all other crops. For the present report, correspondents were asked to estimate the corn probabilities on the basis of "reasonably favorable September weather," and the outcome of their statements foretells that of the 6,404,705 acres planted, 2,016,849 will produce 41,819,809 bushels of marketable corn, or 20.73 bushels per zers. The average yield per acre of marketable corn on the entire area planted is but 6.52 bushels. This does not include the vast quantity of that which is not strictly standing core it is estimated that 3,392,-921 acres, or 52.82 per cent will be cut for its fodder.

The area sown to oats was 1,427,444 acres; the total barvested 857,744, or 60 per cent. Total product, 18,385,949 bushels, or 21.43 bushels per acre on the area harvested and 12.88 bushels on the area sown. In quality the grain is re-ported as considerably better than was believed before harvest-mostly medium to very good.

Barley. Acres of barley sown, 111,390; yield 723,898 bushels; average per acre, 6.48 bushels, and quality good.

Flax occupied 127,54% acres and yielded 1,043,418 bushels, or S.1 bushels per acre. The increase in acreage over the previous year was 22,178 acres, or 21 per cent; wives of the princes and ministers, pays in product 281,000 bushels, or 86.85 per total of 3,595,149 acres, which is less than one year ago by 1,080,555 acres, or 23.11 per cent. It is proper to remark that within the ten days since the date when correspondents closed their reports soaking rains have fallen in not less than four-fifths of the state, reviving the pastures and plowing easy. A result of this is that nearly every team and plow available is being used in that work preparing for the early sowing of either wheat or Where seed can be obtained much rye is likely to be sown in many localities for fall and spring pasturage to sup-plement the shortage in other feeds.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—That the labor leaders of the city are disappointed at the action, or rather the lack of action, taken by the constitutional convention upon the proposition submitted by them is putting it very mildly The amend-ments proposed, it will be remembered, were: (1.) Fixing the liability of employers' for injury sustained by the employees; (2.) Initiative and referendum; (3.) Home rule for cities, and (4.) Changing the conspiracy laws.
